M.A. Programs

International Relations Online

East European Studies Online

Are you looking for an M.A. online program that provides higher education for the real world, which is diverse, fresh, individual and international? A program that doesn't simply kick-start your career but promotes understanding, flexible learning and professional opportunities? A program that keeps you connected after you've finished your degree through a globally active Alumni Network?

Become part of our global network – we welcome your application!

Benefits:

- Pursue targeted education in International Relations or East European Studies
- Profit from a web-based learning environment
- Enjoy English-language coursework
- Be guided and supervised by dedicated scholars from around the world
- Stay on the job while working towards your degree
- Receive your degree from a “University of Excellence” in Germany
- Network with international faculty, fellow students and alumni
